Mojalet's Place For The Arts

“Art develops creative intelligence.”

Carlo Thertus

A healthy imagination not only creates a resourceful and productive individual, but it also builds self-esteem, which is an important tool in life. By sharing the gift of creativity with adults and children, and providing an outlet for self-expression, we are setting the stage for the future of the community and society.

The Vine, Mojalet's Place for the Arts seeks to:

- stimulate the imagination through performances in dance, music, theater, film, and other events
- develop and strengthen creative art skills by offering workshops and classes in dance (and other art forms) for children, teens, and adults
- encourage self-expression and individuality in all who participate in workshops and classes
- foster community involvement and continue to develop a concrete and positive relationship with the North County Community through Arts events
- provide programming appropriate for the entire family

July 9-10 The PGK Project The PGK Project in "Where and When"

Interested in where dance can happen and what inspires it, choreographer Peter G. Kalivas' work ranges dramatically from the most athletic and dynamic to moments of emotional quiet all possessing his inventive signature. Featuring his fun, fresh contemporary dance company of seven stellar dancers "Where and When", is a brand new work that looks both at and to the space between performer, audience, dance maker and observer

July 16-17 Envision Dance

Rayna Stohl is thrilled to be bringing Canyon Crest Academy's Dance Conservatory dancers to the Vine. This weekend will continue the story of Unbreakable Threads, which focuses on the bond between mothers and daughters. Rayna will also be premiering a new solo, which she has been working on with the guidance of her friend and college, Sadie Weinberg. Rayna and Bradley Lundberg will also be performing a new duet. This fun weekend will also strive to raise much-needed funds for the Envision Dance Program.

2011 Summer Series @ the Vine

is a series of performances featuring local artists from different communities in a variety of genres. The goal of this unique series is to enhance our community by presenting professional artists in North San Diego County. This is an opportunity for residence to experience the talented artists here in San Diego, and provide a valuable venue for our local artist to present their work.

July 23-24 Sound Dance Company

Erica Buechner, Director of Sound Dance Co. will be presenting a mixture of work ranging from sultry and subtle to highly caffeinated. Her latest review stated, "Buechner's work was quite witty, and the dancers were terrific." Sandiego.com April 5th, 2011 Kris Eitland

July 30-31 Blythe Barton Dance Vol. 1

A choreographer for more than 10 years, Blythe's work explores the range between technical modern dance and intimate gestured moments. Expect shifting dynamics and intricate manipulations of bodies and space, from one of San Diego's freshest choreographic talents.

Aug 6-7 Mojalet Dance Collective in "Joined Forces"

Faith Jensen-Ismay collaborates with local dancers and guest choreographer Patricia Sandback to present an evening of athletic and powerful work. Mojalet presents – "A touching evening, spontaneous in effect, entertaining and versatile, accentuated by dance of great quality" The Region, Madeline Schupfer, CH

Aug 13-14 Insights with Betzi Roe Weinberg & Sadie Weinberg

Sadie Weinberg explores collaborations with dancers and filmmakers experiencing the joy and challenges of young motherhood. Betzi Roe will apply her insight and wit crafting a new work for local dancers.

Aug 20-21 Jerry Hager

Love, Lunacy & Life

Mask Theatre – Three stories presented in the style of mask theatre with the language of mime help to illustrate the different sides of the human theatre. Jerry has written, directed, and presented over 100 mimodramas (mime plays) over the past ten years.
